Long Bio

Squash is an indie-jam band from Boulder, Colorado. Our music blends classic improvisational rock with modern indie-rock songwriting, pairing technically precise musicianship with an engaging live show that never takes itself too seriously.

Founded by two brothers in 2022, we've built our sound playing shows throughout the Colorado Front Range. The culmination of our efforts to develop chemistry as a band can be heard on our second studio album. This album tells a story of a journey through catchy indie-rock songs such as Weather Balloon and Inferno, alongside long-form progressive compositions such as The Vineyard and Vision.

To anyone reading this, we extend our genuine gratitude for supporting our efforts. We're having more fun than ever sharing our music and watching all of you dance with us. Come see us soon. No two shows will be the same, ever. The only consistency in our live shows is our commitment to having fun, which is what it's all ultimately about. See you soon.
